CITY HOTEL,

THE GLASS OF FASHION.
What the Dear Creatures are Wearing.

The London Queen, in its Paris correspondence, October 24th, says the two colors likely to be fashionable during the winter are both becoming to brunes; at the same time they have been adopted by blondes, simply because they do not find them unbecoming. A woman with golden hair is the ideal type of beauty, and every color should become her. Poppies and corn flowers are very effective, with waving corn. The two fashionable colors are ruby of all shades, from the light rubis bolivi, as it is called, to the dark garnet, named maccass; the second favorite is yellow, from the marigold shade, up to the dye called Aurora, which is a very pale tint.

Initations for balls, receptions, etc., are now gotten up on silks and satins.

The "Marie Antoinette" is the new style of breakfast slippers for ladies. It is made of black kid, with very high, narrow heels, is high and pointed at the back, and is cut with a flap upon the front of the foot, which is ornamented with a strap and buckle.

Young ladies are having indoor dresses made of scarlet or blue merino, to be worn with fancy over-dresses of black silk or muslin. The over-dresses are low and trimmed with ruffles of the same. They are rounded at the sides and looped up high with bows of silk or muslin.

A Paris paper publishes the following description of a dress for paying calls: Robe in plain violet silk trimmed below with a wide violet border and a black stripe in curves. The paletot with wide facings thrown back is also edged with curve stripes and violet blonde. The girdle and tassels are in violet, the small bonnets as in violet silk with black lace, red roses and a sparkling aigret.

For autumn costumes the pelisse and scarf rival in the most varied shapes with the paletot, which is also made with gathering folds and caught-up trimmings, steps not in the least in the back ground, and preserves more than ever in the present fashions its earlier admirers.

Madoemoiselle Bataillon, of the Rue de Chateauneuf, gives the following pattern for an evening dress: The plain high top of this robe with a half train and draped double skirt, is of gray Fouland cut square at the neck, the latter being supplied with a chemise of transparent muslin puffs and sleeves of the same; round the lower edge of the skirt goes a flounce, 6 1/2 inches wide, of the same stuff as the dress; the rest of the trimming consists of lilac silk stripes and lilac silk buttons. Lilac grecian (bell) fringe mark out behind the lower edge of the draped double skirt with the square trimmed top, and hangs out in almost a double length under the large silk bows of the skin trimming. The style of this dress can also serve as a pattern for one of the much adored overskirts of muslin grecine or net.

THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER.—Dr. Ben Franklin remarks that a man as often gets two dollars for one he spends in informing his mind, as he does for a dollar he lays out in any other way. A man eats a pound of sugar and it gone, and the pleasure he has enjoyed is ended, but the information he gets from a newspaper is treasured up to be enjoyed anew, and to be used whenever occasion or inclination call for it. A newspaper is not the wisdom of one man or two men; it is the wisdom of the age, and of past ages too. A family without a newspaper is always a year behind the times in general information; besides they can never think much nor find much to talk about. And then there are the little ones growing up without any taste for reading—Who, then, would be without a newspaper, and who would read one regularly without paying for it?

HOW SOON FORGOTTEN.—So lately dead; so soon forgotten! Tis the way of the world. Men take it by the hand and are anxious about the health of our bodies, and laugh at our jokes; and we really think, like the fly on the wheel, that we have something to do with the turning of the earth. Some day we die and are buried. The sun does not stop for our funeral; every thing goes on as usual; we are not missed on the streets; men still laugh at our jokes though told by other lips; one or two memories still hold our name and form. But the crowd moves in the daily circle, and in three days the great wave of time sweeps over our foot prints and washes out the last vestige of our lives.

HIRAN'S BROTHER.—FRANCIS' POLICY.—Every little straw is gathered now to show the probable policy of the General after his inauguration. Here are two of them.—In the railroad car from Chicago the other day a gentleman said to Grant, "General, I hope when you are in office you will let us have peace in fact as well as in name." To this the General answered, "You may be sure I will, sir. I will make peace and a solid peace, which will satisfy all good men North, South, East and West." A brother of General Grant, who lives in Chicago, is reported to have said a few days ago that Grant intends to enforce the reconstruction laws to the very letter, so far as that duty may be bequeathed him by the existing administration. Perhaps by the time of his inauguration the whole business of reconstruction will have been disposed of, but if not, according to this fraternal authority, Gen. Grant will execute them strictly. The reason alleged for this is that Grant holds that "the will of the people is the law of the land," and that in the election just decided the people expressed their will to have these reconstruction measures enforced by the Republican party.

GOOD NEWS.—If you want cheap home-made furniture, call on Charles Oswald, at his new Furniture store.

TOWN TALK.

We submit the truth that there are but few small towns which present greater natural advantages than Hickman. Our location is healthy, river and railroad advantages good, and back country unsurpassed in richness and fertility, and everything would demand a prosperous town at this place. The very fact that the town has existed, during a large number of years of misfortune, caused by fires, flood, and war, aided by the jinx of rival interest and the illiberal spirit of many property owners, is proof evident of the absolute necessity for a town at this point. Since the war, Hickman has improved greatly, substantially, permanently; but in almost every instance necessity has forced the improvement, that is they were made independent of any encouragement offered by property owners. Possibly, there has been towns which grew into cities solely by reason of their location and natural advantages, but it was before this day of railroads, and telegraphs, and newspapers, when trade is directed from one point to another in a thousand different ways. Ten years ago Hickman would scarcely recognize Paducah as a rival, and now the positions are reversed. The enterprise and public spirit of Paducah business men and property owners have changed that little steamboat landing of 1856 to a flourishing and promising young city of 8,000 or 10,000 population. These facts address themselves to every citizen of Hickman—especially to every owner of property. We must have more enterprise—more public spirit. Do the owners of town lots see no incentive to action in the yearly depreciation of their property in value? The great-bane of Hickman has been that its future has always appeared so encouraging that parties have bought and held uninformed town lots on speculation, but it is now a patent truth that unless a change of policy is inaugurated, all will be losers.

Some method must be adopted to induce population and trade, or our town will continue to draw from the back country along unremunerative to any. Our citizens instead of acting altogether for individual gain, must cultivate a public spirit and work together for the prosperity of our town and community.

These measures must be inaugurated and sustained by actual property holders. Many enterprises have been suggested in this community and failed, simply because the really interested parties declined to assist, and the projects have afterwards been laughed at as visionary by the very men who would have been mostly benefited, and who should have sustained them. These are facts and citizens need only look to the value of their property for proof. Have not our lessons in selfishness been sufficiently bitter? Some of our enterprising men have been derided by property owners, and denounced as enthusiasts and visionary men—because their efforts for the public good have not succeeded, but the property owners however much he may deride is the greatest loser by their non-success.

A new policy must be inaugurated, and it must be done by the owners of property. Their salvation depends on it. Nature, and an industrious people are willing to help them. We must have population; and that can be obtained by our property owners uniting, and offering proper inducements to people to come amongst us and stay with us.

Several instances have occurred directly under our own observation where mechanics and men of small means, who had saved up several hundred dollars surplus, would have built dwelling houses, and children had not cost their ready money to buy the lot. Could they have bought lots on long time used their ready money towards improving the same, they would have become permanent citizens, identified with us in interest, and active, working capital to the town. Would not the lot owner directly be a greater gainer, drawing his annual installments, than by letting his lots remain vacant, paying heavy taxes, with only the hope in the future of obtaining $500 or $1000 down cash for it.

Everybody knows that had this policy been adopted, acted upon, and published to the world, hundreds of houses would have been erected here, where there has not been one.

Men of small means, mechanics, artisans, workingmen, are the men we want, and can induce. One of these "small builders" is worth more to a community than a man of five times his means who refuses to make any improvements. The first is one of us—a citizen—permanently identified with us in interest, and stays with us through sunshine and storm, while the other is a speculator, "on the make," and picks up his traps and leaves at the first ill wind. The first deserves our encouragement, while the other should be made to pay for their venture.

GENERAL LEE is in request. The new Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company wants him for President, and a New York Life Insurance Company desires him to superintend its Southern agencies for $10,000 a year.

Be warned in time. Diseases like Indigestion and Dyspepsia are not to be trifled with. This is such as being too late in these matters. Inflammation, or Scirrhous Cancer, or some other dangerous disease may ensue, when all stirratives, no matter how potent, would be ineffectual. Do not delay then, when the symptoms of Dyspepsia are first experienced resort at once to the great restorative medicine, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, and you will be safe.

But few disorders involve greater suffering, and if not in itself immediately dangerous, it is the source of many deadly maladies. Even if it did not tend to greater suffering, there is a physical misery it produces, from a morbid state, why no pains should be spared to prevent it.

In no country on the face of the globe is it so completely domesticated as in our own, where it is found in nearly every household.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

are universally conceded to be the sovereign remedy for this annoying disorder, the act directly upon the digestive organs, correct and tone the stomach, and give renewed vitality to the system. Acting directly upon the nerves and soothing the brain, renders them effusives as a mental medicine, as well as a general stomachic.

If taken in moderate doses, it will cure the Tonics a single dose of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS will be found particularly well suited to the disease.

STONEY POINT, White co., Ark., May 23, 63.
Dr. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Last February I was in Louisville purchasing drugs, and I got some of your Sarsaparilla and Cedron Bitters.

My son-in-law, who was with me in the city, has been down with rheumatism, for some time, and, after taking the Bitters, soon found his general health improved.

Dr. Gist, who has been in bad health, tried them, and he also improved.

Dr. W. H. Walker, who has been in bad health for several years, stomach and liver affected; he improved very much by the use of your Bitters. Indeed the Cedron Bitters has given you great popularity in this state.

I am sending you a copy of your advertisement of your medicines, this fall, especially of your Cedron Bitters and Sarsaparilla. Ship me in Memphis, care of Ricketts and Neely.

Respectfully, C. B. WALKER.

Mr. M. C. JONES, Dear Sir: I send you a copy of my worm Destroyer, which has already attained by its own merits, but will state that my little son, aged about three years, was very seriously attacked last winter, with violent spasms, and proper fits, lasting from half an hour to one and a half hours; at the same time the child had strong symptoms of worms. My physician—one of the best in the state—had exhausted all his skill and the Materias Medicinae to expel the worms, and entirely failed to bring any. I then called upon Dr. John Bull, who sent me the contents of three boxes, in triple doses, night and morning, with happy results. The child has not had a spasm for over three months, and instead of the treated mass, he is now as well and hearty. John Bull did it. Yours, truly, M. L. DUPLAN.

What Shall We Do?

The political excitement of 1868, is over, and let it affect us as it may, the result of the election irrevocable and must be accepted for the next four years. All our regrets will not alter the facts; and we had as well yield the field for the present to the conquerors, and direct our energy and talent toward developing and prospering the country. War and politics, with their manifold calamities, has yet left us land as rich as the world produces, and health and strong arms to work them. The lands of Fulton and adjoining counties will compare favorably with the lands of any district of country, and it is to develop them, to bring them into market, that we should work.

Why do our lands not sell for as much as lands in New York, Kentucky and Middle Tennessee? There men can afford to pay from $100 to $500 an acre, and make money by appropriating it to agricultural purposes. In this section good land is dull from $25 to $50, and in many respects our soil is superior to theirs.

Demand, in this, as in all other articles, governs. Our vacant lands need to be cleared, improved and cultivated. To do this we need people—a people who will use the axe, the plow, the loom, and the anvil. We are convenient and accessible to the best markets of the world, and if we can bring out the rich resources of our land we are rich. Working men must be encouraged to come and live amongst us—men who can open land, raise corn, tobacco, potatoes, beans, cabbage, turnips, onions, and other products, ready for the demand at the markets to which we are accessible. When we have done this our land will command from $100 to $500 per acre. This can be effected in a few years, and it is bound to be effected in time. To facilitate this end we need to encourage schools, colleges, churches of all denominations, public roads, and a good, liberal public spirit generally. Our people can inaugurate a new era of fortune to themselves, if they will. It is people we want—working people—and they will dig capital from our rich lands.

Did it ever occur to you, says Commodore Maury, when an emigrant comes into the country, to calculate how much he adds to the national wealth, not by the money which he brings, but by the labor which he is able to perform? For that labor you will pay him, at the least, one hundred dollars a year. He therefore, represents an industrial capital of which one hundred dollars a year is the interest, precisely in the same way, that a steam engine, by the work which it is capable of performing, represents an industrial capital. The labor, therefore, of a white man represents quite as much industrial capital as the labor of a negro did before the war, which for an able-bodied man varied from twelve to fifteen hundred dollars. Taking old and young, male and female, let us suppose that each emigrant represents an industrial capital of four hundred dollars. And then we must weigh these eleven millions of excess of Northern population as the number of emigrants, which have come into country since 1790 and settled at the North rather than at the South. Multiply that by four hundred and you have upwards of four thousand millions of dollars, which the North has acquired, not from any superior energy of her people, but merely by the influx of laborers and foreigners abroad.

The "Regulators."

On Friday, the 13th inst., about 12 o'clock at night, a party of men, ten or fifteen strong, visited the farm of Messrs. John and Hugh Upshaw, some three miles below Hickman, calling for Mr. John Upshaw, and proposing to investigate, or have settled a claim, which a former employee of Mr. Upshaw had preferred against him, amounting to $55; and asserting their authority, that he shall be informed by telegram over the cable.—Richmond Dispatch.

The Davis Case.

Many inquiries are made as to whether Mr. Davis will have to appear before the United States Circuit Court, the fourth Monday of this month. Such is the condition of his recognition, that it is by no means certain that will happen. U. S. GOVERNMENT, M. E. BROWN, who represent respectively the accused and the government, deem his personal appearance necessary, it is agreed that he shall be informed by telegram over the cable.—Richmond Dispatch.

The Civil Service.

A special telegram to the New York Times, sent from Washington within the past week states that Gov. Cass will allow himself bound to retain in the Government service any of the appointees of Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Seward, but on the contrary, that will begin his administration by a wholesale reorganization of the cabinet, beginning with the president himself, and not ending short of the collector and assessor of revenue in the various States of the Union North and South.

GOVERNOR BROWNSLOW through the Knoxville Whig has commented what is really a war of extermination against the few remaining rebels left in East Tennessee. In the last issue the following language is used: "Every such man like every tory of the war of Independence, finds himself among neighbors whom he lately wronged. He is an object of hatred and he knows it. More than that, he is among hosts of enemies and therefore helpless."

In the Fourth Tennessee District, Tillman, the Radical candidate for Congress, has received the certificate. Sheafly demands, had $50 majority on a square vote, but, after the election was over, there were just enough votes thrown out to declare Tillman elected. Brownlow would have done the same in the Memphis district, but had 2 radical contestants for the seat. H. Fletcher, Jr., son of J. H. and M. A. Fletcher, died one year, one month, and four days.

For the Hickman Courier.
Ku Klux Klan.

MR. EDITOR:—I suppose every one of your readers are aware of the fact, that we have a secret organization in our state and has nothing to do with the settlement of business accounts between private citizens. In the instance before us, both of the young Upshaws have ever been considered Southern men, born and raised in this community, property owners, and responsible before the law for their contracts. Especially is this true of young Hugh Upshaw, who during the late civil war, made as brave and gallant a Confederate soldier as ever wore boots and spurs. For this reason, we can not think that the real friends of the South, whether as Ku Klux, or under any other name, would desire or could be induced to interfere with the private rights of such citizens.

In connection with this affair, we should like to know that on the very next day after this occurrence, a number of well known and notorious Radicals of Obion county were seen upon Reelfoot lake, six or eight miles below Upshaws, armed and mounted, and the suspicion is strong with some that they were the so-called "Klux." Who composed the party, however, we are likely never to know.

The action of armed bodies of men, distinguished, roving through the country at night, assuming to regulate the business relations of our people, or depraving upon their property, and the rights of private citizens, is severely ceasurable. They are subversive of all law and order, and the peace, quiet, and security of society demand that they should be discouraged and disengaged by all good citizens. In this State our Courts are established, and in full, unobstructed operation, presided over by judges elected from and by our people. Our laws are made by legislators, of our own choosing, and when arranged, are guaranteed a fair and impartial trial by a jury of our peers. All of our officers, from Coronet to Governor, are of our own election. We can make no complaint of our laws, or of their fair administration. It, therefore, becomes our people to obey the laws and to aid in their execution. In some of the upper counties in this State the degradations of independent "regulators" was carried to such an extent that the people had to petition Governor Stevenson, to call out the militia for their suppression. This the Governor did, finally succeeding in breaking them up, but not until Col. Wolford, the Adjutant General of the State, had had several fatal engagements with them.

Our people condemn this raiding around for the purpose of depredating or interfering with private individuals. We think it wrong, however, to attempt to throw the blame on the Ku Klux, if there is such an organization in this part of the country. In this issue we publish a communication, on the subject of the Ku Klux written by an ex-Confederate officer, and one by education and association always identified with the Southern people, in which it is assumed that the organization does exist in our midst. Of this we know nothing, only that demonstrations have been made under their garb and name. But we must admit that we have never known of their committing any acts of violence.

Tribute of Respect.

At a meeting of Fulton Lodge, No. 120, A. Y. M., at their hall in Hickman, Ky., November 9th, 1868, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Supreme Architect of the universe to remove that burden from whence no traveler return, our much beloved brother HERBERT RICHARD, of this city, and his wife, the same, in the hope of a cure or apply remedies which make them worse. I would not wish to assert anything that would do injustice to the Society, but I am compelled to say, though it may be painful, from excessive exhaustion of the powers of life, by laborious employment, unwholesome air and food, profane intemperance, the use of tea and coffee, and frequent visits to the bath, caused by direct irritation, applied to the mucous membrane of the vagina itself.

When reviewing the causes of these distressing complaints, it is most painful to contemplate the state of society upon them.
